

TO HAND OUT MANY JOBS

New Jersey Governor to Send in First Appointments To-day.

TAXATION NEXT PROBLEM

Scramble for Davis's Place in Hudson County—Martine Happy Man These Days.

[From the Regular Correspondent of the Tribune.] Trenton, N. J., Jan. 29.—Governor Wilson will send to the Legislature to-morrow the first of his appointments, and there is a lot of interest shown throughout the state as to their make-up. The most important place that is that of State Road Commissioner, the term of Frederick K. Glickson, the incumbent, having expired yesterday.

While those who know the Governor well are confident that political considerations will be a secondary matter, there is, nevertheless, some anxiety lest the Governor make the mistake of naming as his first appointee some one whose claims to recognition are based more on his political following than his fitness for office.

The state road commissioner is an important office, and during the recent campaign Mr. Wilson pointed out that he did not think it well to give the immense power of that office—which consists in the awarding of $1,000,000 or so of contracts yearly—to one man. So he may endeavor to have a law enacted creating a commission for the work of the Road Department.

It is not thought, however, that he will go to this extreme, for it is pointed out by persons familiar with governmental affairs that divided responsibility is not to be encouraged and that if the right kind of man is placed at the head of the State Road Department it does not matter how large are the contracts to be awarded.

The Governor said the other day that he had no less than fifty applications for the place of Road Commissioner.

With the Senate sitting on the way the Legislature can now get down to the work of legislation, and a merry time is ahead of it. The one hundred or more bills introduced in the Assembly cover pretty nearly every subject from the regulation of public utilities corporations to reciprocity for automobile owners. Among these bills are measures relating to county tax laws and a bill creating a state tax court.

The tax question has been the subject of considerable discussion in New Jersey for the last few years and it figured largely in the recent campaign, and to those familiar with the subject the passage of any of the bills affecting taxation now before the Legislature will serve to make even more chaotic the present system.

It is pointed out that in order to place taxation in New Jersey on a fair and equitable basis it will be necessary to begin at the bottom—that is, at the assessor himself—and not at the top. So far as county tax boards are concerned, it is explained, they should be retained and given more power, unless something better is found to take place, for no one in the large cities, at least—wants to go back to the old methods.

Charles Hessel, the expert in charge of the reappraisal of the railroad and canal property of the state, has come in contact, through one of his special assistants, with many vagaries of taxation, and it is not at all improbable that his report to the Governor will make interesting reading.

Perhaps the happiest man in New Jersey at the present time is James E. Martine, who will take Senator Keen's place, on March 4. After twenty-five years of patient waiting, he has been chosen to the highest office in the gift of the state, and those who know him well say that if not the state and integrity are the essentials for success at Washington "Jim" Martine is going to make good.

It is regarded as probable, however, that Mr. Martine's course will be directed by Governor Wilson, the new leader of the Democracy of New Jersey. In fact, it is pretty well understood that before the new Governor issued his first letter demanding the selection of the "Denver Oration" a thorough understanding had been reached between the two the day before the letter was made public.

There is one point about Mr. Martine's selection, however, which is going to have a big effect in the future politics of the state, and that is that it set in motion the machinery for the direct election of United States Senators, and it is a safe prediction that when the term of Frank O. Briggs expires, two years from now, his successor will be chosen by the votes of his party direct at the primaries.

PLEA FOR OPENING OF ALASKA

People's Institute Indorses Wickersham's Idea of Territorial Government.

James Wickersham, Congressional delegate from Alaska, addressed the People's Institute at Cooper Union last night, on "Present Political Problems and Disputed Territories." The speaker told the big audience that in its 600,000 square miles of coal lands there was more coal in Alaska than there was in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Kentucky combined, but none of these lands was worked.

"If we had a foreign war, with Japan or any other nation," he said, "there would not be coal enough on the Pacific Coast to supply our ships for ninety days. There is a bill in Washington to release these coal lands, but I am opposed to it, for it would put the coal in the control of corporations. I want the people of Alaska to get it."

The speaker urged the necessity of a government for Alaska similar to that of other territories.

WOULD BUY TELEPHONE CO.

Permission Asked of Public Service Commission by Local Corporation.

Albany, Jan. 29.—Petitions have been received by the Public Service Commission from the New York Telephone Company asking that it be allowed to buy the American Automatic Telephone Company for $125,000, to merge the Transnational Telephone Company, the Jefferson County Telephone Company and to transfer the rights, property and franchises, formerly belonging to the Central New York Telephone and Telegraph Company in Oneonta, Unadilla, Belford Springs, Laurens, Conners-ton and Walton, now owned by the New York Telephone Company, to the Otsego and Delaware Telephone Company for the sum of $25,000.

The New York Telephone Company also asks to be allowed to sell its property in Allegany County, including the rights and privileges granted to the New York and Pennsylvania Telephone and Telegraph Company by the villages of Wellsville and Andover to the Allegany Telephone Company, of Wellsville. The price to be paid is $25,000.

SON OF BARON CHRISTENED HERE.

After the high mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral yesterday morning, in the presence of a few friends, the infant son of Baron and Baroness of San Severino was christened. The sponsors were Senator Tommaso Tilton, Italian Minister to Paris, and the Marchesa Cusani, Countess of the Italian Ambassador to the United States. Countess Anna Leary and Marquis Vili Mariani stood proxy for them.

JERSEY LAWYER IN JAIL

Convicted of Embezzlement, He Loses His Appeal.

[By Telegram to the Tribune.] Somerville, N. J., Jan. 29.—After fighting in the courts of the state for a year for his liberty, Horace Codington, a lawyer, well known throughout Somerset County and formerly a political leader of Warren Township, is confined in the Somerset County Jail to-night, and may be removed to the state prison at Trenton during the coming week to serve a sentence of eighteen months for misappropriating the funds of Warren Township.

Horace Codington and his brother, Joel Codington, formerly the Treasurer of Warren Township, were sentenced by Judge Schenck about a year ago to serve eighteen and twelve months, respectively, in the state prison for misappropriating the funds of the township. Joel Codington decided to serve his sentence. After eight months in prison he was pardoned. He returned to his home in Warren Township, and his former followers have rallied to him again.

Horace Codington appealed to the Supreme Court to have his sentence set aside, on the ground that Justice Parker had discharged two members of the grand jury selected to consider his case before the members of the jury had been sworn. The Supreme Court sustained a few days ago the conviction of the lower court, but Codington, who was out under bail, made no move to surrender or to carry his case to the Court of Errors and Appeals, so he was arrested to-day. He is now making an effort to secure his release on bail.

BATTLE DEFENDS COURTS

Lawyer Says They Have Upheld Justifiable Legislation.

George Gordon Battle, candidate for District Attorney on the Tammany ticket in 1909, spoke before the People's Forum of the Church of the Ascension, Fifth avenue and 10th street, last night, on "The Recent Attitude of the Courts Toward Legislation and Labor Problems." Mr. Battle said he believed criticism of the courts was permissible as long as it was fair and just, but that certain criticism had been brought about because the courts in their anxiety to preserve the right to govern labor had sustained laws that seemed harsh. He reviewed the statutes of many states and the decisions of the United States Supreme Court regarding various labor problems.

One of the questions he took up was the restriction of hours of labor. He said he thought the courts had approached this in a very humanitarian manner. He also dealt with the police power exercised by the courts.

"A conservative and sometimes a too conservative standpoint has been taken," Mr. Battle said, "but in all cases where the laws of the legislatures were justifiable, they were sustained by the courts."

Before the regular meeting began the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant preached on "Are Americans Drying Up Emotionally?" The speaker answered his own question with a strong denial, giving as one proof the fact that the music and the art of the country were steadily developing, but had yet to reach a state of perfection.

"These are the languages of the emotions, and they are not yet well spoken, although Americans are striving to learn both tongues," he said.

ADLER'S DAUGHTER TO WED

Refused at First to Have Another Actor in Family.

Jacob P. Adler has a theatre down in the Bowery known as the Thalia. He also has a daughter who is called Frances by her friends. Besides these, he also has an actor in his company known as Joseph Schoen-gold, who joined the troupe several seasons ago. The latter was a good actor, in the opinion of the manager, and soon rose to leading parts. Mrs. Adler played leading parts, too. From constant intimate association on the stage they became attached to each other and decided to be married.

Mr. Adler didn't want another actor in the family. He thought there were enough already, he said. He wanted a business man or a lawyer. His eye was on the profession of his son-in-law. But his daughter's eye was on the man. And, woman like, she wouldn't take it off.

Night before last the play which was to hold the boards at the Thalia was "Elisabeth-Aviva." In it the dying father gives his daughter to his friend. Father and daughter were cast in their respective parts and Schoen-gold was to play the friend. Mr. Adler told him he couldn't have the part, whereupon the daughter refused to play. And neither did play.

After the performance Mr. and Mrs. Adler were expected to bestow prizes at the Vorwärts masquerade ball, in Madison Square Garden, but the attitude of the young people caused a change of plans. Instead they went to the Yiddish Delmonico's, at No. 21 Grand street, where the young couple, happy at last, celebrated their real engagement with the blessing of the foretelling parents. The wedding will take place on March 21 at the Hotel Astor.

HEBREW FREE LOANS POPULAR

Association Furnished More than Half Million to 19,300 Persons in Year.

Julius J. Dukas, president of the Hebrew Free Loan Association, presided yesterday at the nineteenth annual meeting of that organization at its rooms, No. 108 Second avenue. His report for the last year, which he read to the directors, showed that 19,300 loans were made, aggregating $244,176, and $500,693.94 was returned in installments. The receipts from members' dues, donations and other sources were $28,252.10, and expenses, including all losses, $17,568.67. The surplus for the year was $1,781.43, and the total capital of the society is now $138,565.67. During the nineteen years of its existence $1,133,237 was loaned to 174,811 persons. In March, 1910, an office was opened at No. 209 East 116th street.

Isidor Straus, Dr. J. L. Magnes, Morris Jacoby and Dr. L. Zinsler were among the speakers at the meeting. Mr. Straus contributed $1,000 yesterday to the society. These ten directors were elected, to serve three years: David Bloom, Julius J. Dukas, Henry Glass, Moses J. Gohman, Mendel Hecht, Philip Hersch, Philip Jacoby, Solomon Lichtenstein, Meyer Levy and Louis Solinsky. J. Mark Katz was elected for two years and Jacob M. Marcuson for one year.

MATERNITY HOSPITAL RECORD

Baby an Hour for Fifteen Hours in East Broadway Institution.

When the birth rate in one small hospital runs close to a baby an hour for fifteen hours at a stretch, well may the opponents of race suicide rejoice and be exceeding glad. Such was the record made at the Jewish Maternity Hospital, at No. 270 East Broadway, in each of the hours following 10:15 o'clock Thursday morning. In that period there were fourteen births.

The strain of the last few days has impressed on the directors of the institution the need of enlarged quarters. From the time named up to 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the number of births ran up to thirty-one. In order to accommodate the fifty-two patients in the hospital on Saturday night, it was found necessary for the three house physicians and the chief nurse to move out of their rooms so that coats might be placed in them. A partly finished ward, from which the nurses had moved out only a short time before, had during the night been opened in an emergency.

Among the babies born during the rush hours were twins—a boy and a girl. The boy weighed seven pounds and the girl something over six.

STOPS SUNDAY BUSINESS

Plainfield Mayor Has Police to Close Every Store in Town.

ICE CREAM ON "DON'T LIST"

No Shoe Shines, No Tobacco—Elected to Enforce Laws, Executive Declares.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 29 (Special).—A strict observance of the Sunday laws here to-day through orders issued by Mayor Moy, caused a sensation among the fifty or more proprietors of stores who have been accustomed to selling anything from a pair of shoestrings to a suit of clothes, also ice cream, candy, cigars, etc., without molestation. The Mayor gave his instructions to the police last night, and to-day the stores were closed, and the police were on duty to see that the law was enforced to the letter.

The city executive permitted the sale of newspapers, milk and such things as are regarded as foodstuffs and necessities, but the ban was placed on everything else, even to the bootblacks of the city. Mr. Moy declares that the laws and ordinances are enacted for enforcement, and inasmuch as he was elected to enforce these laws he does not intend to fail in his duty. Restaurants were permitted to remain open for the serving of meals, but the proprietors were not allowed to sell cigars or tobacco.

A rather peculiar condition confronts the city in that there are a number of Seventh Day Baptists here, who observe Saturday as Sabbath, closing their places of business from Friday night sundown to Saturday night sundown, and then do business on Saturday night and Sunday. The Mayor has informed them that they must keep their places closed until midnight Saturday if they intend to keep open on Sunday. Heretofore they have opened as early as 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at certain times of the year, the sun setting as early as that hour, and in this way they get the benefit of a good portion of Saturday's trade, as well as that of Sunday.

To-day's action of Mayor Moy follows a conference with the Police Board of the City Council, in which the executive clearly expounded the law to the other members, telling them what they had a right to do and what not. It is understood the Mayor's exposition did not please his fellow members.

LOST STRAD NOT RECOVERED

Police Thought Owner Insane, but Magistrate Frees Her.

Miss Marie F. X. Hanlon, owner of a lost Stradivarius violin, the search for which has caused the police, the Bellevue authorities and its owner much trouble, was declared mentally sound and discharged by Magistrate O'Connor in the Yorkville court yesterday. Miss Hanlon told the magistrate she was a musician and lived at No. 35 West 16th street. She said the late E. H. Harriman gave her a genuine Stradivarius violin several years ago, and that she gave it to a man acquaintance in June to take to a 24th street music establishment for repairs.

Since that time, Miss Hanlon said, she had not seen the man nor the violin. She reported the theft to the Harlem Detective Bureau, but the man could not be found in that district, where, it was said, he had lived at one time. She made several visits to the bureau, and finally went to Police Headquarters. On Saturday she went to Headquarters again, with a letter to Inspector Russell, but he was away. Lieutenant Dunn, of the detective bureau, talked with her for a time, and concluded that Miss Hanlon should be sent to the psychopathic ward for observation. She was taken there by a patrolman.

ALL HIS CLOTHING STOLEN

Man Borrows Suit So as to Report to Police.

Activity in the social whirl will be denied for a time to Isaac Sweelkiss, of No. 40 West 20th street, for he reported at the West 20th street police station last night that his entire personal wardrobe and a hired Tuxedo suit to boot had been stolen. A borrowed suit of his cousin's enabled him to be about yesterday.

Sweelkiss said he hired the suit to attend a ball on Saturday night. He returned home yesterday morning at 5 o'clock. Upon awaking three hours later he found his suit and watch were gone. Detectives were sent after a man, who, Sweelkiss said, had admitted selling his hired suit to a waiter in a restaurant.

NEW HOME FOR AGED JEWS

East Side Poor Contribute Entire Cost of Institution.

The Home of the Sons and Daughters of Israel will be the name of a new East Side institution for poor and deserving old men and women of the Jewish faith, which is to be opened on April 1, if all goes well. For several years the United American Hebrew Charities Association has seen the need of another such place where the aged and infirm of the mill and of a half Jew in this city could be cared for, and has been receiving contributions from the poorer classes toward the purchase of the five story building at No. 222 East 9th street.

This building was finally obtained by the society in August. The contract for alterations was placed last week, the whole process involving an expenditure of about $25,000, of which sum only the poor have been allowed to contribute.

Objection was raised to the situation fixed upon, on the ground that so much more could have been obtained in the country for the same amount. This was met by the founder of the home with the argument that to man cares to be put alive into a grave, however beautiful. If the old people are kept where they can look out upon their friends occasionally, he believes, it will keep alive their desire to live.

AMERICAN EXHIBITS FOR FAIR

Government Anxious to Have U. S. Well Represented at Turin Exposition.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Of the greatest importance to the American producer of raw material, the manufacturer and the exporter will be the Turin exposition, which opens on April 29 next, in the presence of the King and royal family of Italy, diplomats and foreigners of distinction and the Italian parliament. It will be the greatest ever held in Italy.

The Department of State is in receipt of reports from its consular officers in Europe urging that the attention of American manufacturers and producers be directed to what promises to be an exceptional opportunity for the development of American trade. For the benefit of the would-be American exhibitors who cannot send representatives to Turin the United States government commission has arranged to give special attention to their exhibits and will see that they are properly handled and displayed.

The United States will have the largest government exhibit at the exposition, its building having an admirable view of the right bank of the Po, with a facade of two hundred yards long. In all there will be 125 buildings, covering seventy-five acres.

MAKES REPLY TO PREACHER

Charges Against County Courts Denied by Bergen Prosecutor.

Hackensack, N. J., Jan. 29 (Special).—County Prosecutor Wright replied to-day to the statement made yesterday by the Rev. A. E. Montgomery, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Atonement, at Tenafly, alleging disgraceful miscarriage of justice in the Bergen County courts at Hackensack. Mr. Wright characterized the charges of the rector as "false and slanderous." He added:

"A person holding a position such as Mr. Montgomery does is supposed to make statements with care, and such statements when made are supposed to command respect. That Mr. Montgomery has made no attempt to investigate the truth of the statements made by him is apparent to any one who will take the trouble to verify the circumstances. If he had asked me, I would have given him the facts and put him in the way of verifying them, or he could have asked Judge Demarest, or, in fact, any one of the persons engaged in the enforcement of the criminal law in this county, any one of whom would have told him where he could find the records of each case he cites."

"This would not have required very much effort, because the records in the Sheriff's office show that since September 1, 1909, when I became Prosecutor, Mr. Maugham, the Recorder he refers to, has committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury only three persons. The records further show that of these three, only one was discharged without trial."

PLANS LINCOLN DAY EXERCISES.

Veterans living in Queens, Nassau and Suffolk counties will be invited this week to take part in Lincoln Day exercises arranged by Mrs. Littleton, wife of Congressman-elect Martin W. Littleton, which are scheduled as part of her forum and are to be held in Victoria Hall, in Port Washington, next Sunday. Hugh Gordon Miller has been invited to deliver the oration.

HELD FOR SHOOTING DENTIST

Dr. Worster Arrested After an All Night Search.

Dr. S. Worster, a dentist, of No. 222 East 58th street, president of a dental company at 58th street and Third avenue, was arraigned in the Yorkville court yesterday and held, without bail, by Magistrate O'Connor, on a charge of shooting Dr. Frank A. Doland, also a dentist, and who was in the employ of Worster.

Worster was arrested yesterday morning at his dental establishment, after detectives had been looking for him all night. He was taken to the East 51st street station.

The shooting occurred on Saturday night in the dental parlors and he cause is a mystery. It was reported to the police by Dr. John J. Larsen, a dentist, of No. 229 East 58th street, and the wounded man was taken to the Flower Hospital, with a pistol wound in the groin. The surgeons think he will recover.

FALLS DEAD LIGHTING GAS

Body of Retired New York Business Man Found in Bathroom.

Red Bank, N. J., Jan. 29 (Special).—Charles H. Thompson, a retired New York business man, was found dead in the bathroom of his home, in Riverside avenue, last evening by his wife, on her return home from New York and Rutherford, where she has been visiting since Friday.

When Mrs. Thompson arrived at the house she found the morning paper and milk out on the back veranda, and thought something must be wrong. She went to the bathroom, where she found her husband dead. The gas was turned on and a box of matches was found on the floor. Coroner Sickles was called and pronounced death due to paralysis of the heart. It is believed that Mr. Thompson went to the bathroom and had turned on the gas to light it when he was stricken with paralysis.

RAINS THREATEN RIVERSIDE

Washouts May Bury Retaining Wall—Trees in Danger.

With no funds on hand to stop the washing of a large section of Riverside Park to the south of Grant's Tomb, the Park Department will soon face a serious situation if wet weather continues. Not only is there a probability that a great slice of earth will slide down to the retaining wall at the bottom of one of the highest bluffs in the park, but a number of trees are being uprooted by the slowly moving landslide. One of these probably will fall across a nearby walk, as it was held yesterday at a ridiculous incline by one or two roots.

Some years ago an attempt was made to fill in half a dozen culverts near Grant's Tomb, but the temporary work has been made ineffective by rains. There are a dozen or more wooden viaducts on the lower walk of the park between 72d street and Grant's Tomb. Most of them have been there for five years or more. They span gullies caused by leaks, or where improper filling has made it possible for every hard rain to wash out a deep furrow.

A few weeks ago the matter was brought to the attention of Park Commissioner Stover, who said there were no funds available for refilling the holes and placing slightly bridges where the old ones now stand. It was pointed out that if the grading had been done properly there would be no need for such structures anyway.

MODEL SHOE FACTORY PLANNED

Workers Would Show Profits in Making Goods at Union Wages.

Lynn, Mass., Jan. 29.—To prove to the shoe manufacturers of the country that shoes can be made profitably at the scale of wages established by the unions, the executive board of the United Shoe Workers of America at a meeting here to-day voted to establish a model factory to be operated by the national organization of

Some say that civic pride and old fashioned love of country are dying out. We think not—but perhaps the method of showing them has changed.

We think New York City is a greater and a better City on account of what the Title Guarantee and Trust Company has been able to do for it. It has revolutionized the whole system of handling titles to real estate. Let us take care of your titles for you.

the union. It was not definitely decided to-day where the factory will be situated, but it is probable that Lynn will be selected. The meeting of the executive board to-day was attended by delegates from Rochester, Chicago, Brooklyn, Lynn and Salem, Mass.

FIRST CLEVELAND MAN DEAD

James A. Randall, Editor Who Started Campaign for Governor, Dies in Detroit.

Detroit, Jan. 29.—James A. Randall, lawyer, legislator and newspaper editor, died at his home in this city to-day after an illness of more than two years. He was born in 1848.

Mr. Randall founded "The Buffalo Times" and it is stated that a notice posted at his instance in the news room of that newspaper, "Room Grover Cleveland for Governor of New York State," paved the way for Mr. Cleveland to the Presidency.

President Cleveland during his second term offered him the territorial governorship of New Mexico, but this honor was declined. Mr. Randall also founded "The Kansas City News."

Today's Most Important Piano News!

600 New Pianos and Piano-Players are now in our warerooms and among them a goodly number have come in from our own incomparable makers, upon which certain concessions have been made enabling us to make some special prices.

The concession must not be considered as a guide for any future business excepting during the next few days while these beautiful Pianos are unsold.

Unusual Piano Offering Today

Note—First, these are NOT USED Pianos, though some of them have been employed slightly here in the store, and reduced on that account.

Second, the very fact that we have employed them in our Auditorium and Trial Rooms proves that they are the worthiest types of the very best makes of pianos.

The Pianos Listed Below Are Bright and New, from the Testing and Voicing Rooms of the Factors

Some have been on our floors for more than a year, others less than a year. Here and there it will be found, on close examination, that they are varnish-checked and shop-worn, but this only to the extent that applies to careful usage here in the store, and not as would be the case had they been long in household use.

The greater number of the pianos have been employed in demonstrations in our Auditorium and Trial Rooms.

It Would Not Be Fair to Offer All These Pianos

without stating the above facts, as they all look as new as if they came in yesterday.

In some instances, the only reason for lowering the prices is, that in the year or so that we have had the pianos, the manufacturers have changed the patterns slightly. This does not affect the worth of the older pianos in the slightest, but our store policy decrees that it shall affect the prices.

We regard this as an exceptional opportunity for procuring
